November Nuggets - November 18

The following email was sent to the KYAE list-serv.

GED Ready™ test now available with extended time for those with documented disabilities

GED Testing Service® is offering an extended time version of GED Ready™ for those with documented disabilities. Only test-takers who have indicated that they need to request modified testing conditions for their GED® test in their MyGED® account will see the option for the extended time GED Ready™ practice test.

When test-takers who have indicated they need to request modified testing conditions log in to purchase the GED Ready™ practice test, they will see a link asking if they need information about the extended time GED Ready™ practice test. Test-takers who click on the link for more information about the extended time GED Ready™ practice test will be given a customer support phone number to call and order the appropriate test.

If a student needs accommodations in addition to extended time for the Ready™ test, please contact the state GED® testing office for assistance.

For more information about this, contact Rae Smith at rae.smith@ky.gov.
